Communiqué Market Intelligence Cell – Toll-free Telephone

The Bank of Mauritius (Bank) had issued a communiqué on 27 December 2013 to inform members of the public of the setting up of a Market Intelligence Cell (MI Cell) at the Bank. The objectives of the MI Cell, among others, are to assist in the fight against financial crime as well as to collect information in areas pertaining to financial frauds and scams including other fraudulent schemes that may threaten the stability of the financial sector.

A dedicated email address micell@bom.mu was put at the disposal of members of the public and other interested parties to communicate information to the Bank freely and voluntarily.

The Bank is pleased to announce that a toll-free telephone service is now in place for the MI Cell. Members of the public can now call '149' free of cost to report to the MI Cell, any information which may assist the Bank in the fight against financial crimes. All calls to 149 will be dealt with strict confidentiality.

The Bank relies on the cooperation and assistance of the public in combatting financial crime.
